"THE ONE PAPER IN MOST HOMES—THE ONLY PAPER IN MANY HOMES"

VOL. LXII.

HICKMAN, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1921.

NO. 14.

WILL GO TO STATE FAIR

Judging Team Will Try Hard for $50 Trophy.

The Kentucky State Fair begins at Louisville next Monday, September 12, and a number of Fulton County farmers have signified their intention of accompanying the County Agent and his assistant and the Judging Team of the Junior Agricultural Club. This great annual festival of instruction and inspiration belongs to every citizen of the state as it is largely supported by taxation and we hope more will see their way clear to attend. The college will have dozens of demonstrations this year illustrating the most up-to-date methods of farming and if there was ever a time when farmers should keep up with the times, or a little ahead of them, it is now.

The Judging Team, composed of Glen Williamson, Henry Muddox, Jr., and Andrew Bacon, is working hard to uphold the good reputation of Fulton County and to bring back the $50.00 trophy. They have about twenty-five other teams to compete against and whether they win or lose they should be congratulated upon the efforts they are making.

A poultry exhibit of thirty-two choice White Rocks will also be taken along to represent Fulton County, so we will have quite a lot of crowing done for our fair County to say the least.

THE CITIZEN'S TICKET.

In another column of this paper will be found the personnel of the Citizens' Ticket. They are all clean, sensible men—broadminded, yet conservative, and if elected, this or any other ticket should have the united support of this entire ticket. I pledge myself, that I shall never speak of another councilman, except in the highest terms. I desire to be a private, yet if there is anything I can do in anyway, they know they have only to command me. If the next Council will pull together themselves they can do much good, otherwise nothing. The old fable of the man who had six sons will apply here. He cut six sticks all the same size and length and tightly bound them with a strong cord. Then calling all of his sons around him requesting each one to try his strength in breaking the bundle. They all tried and failed saying it could not be done. He told them to cut and then cut the bundle apart by one and they fell useless at his feet. He then had much to say to his boys which I have forgotten, anyway he illustrated the power of strength in unity. We hope our next Council will work together as one man.

Our suggestion of placing three miles on the Council fell on deaf ears, but I still favor the plan with all my heart. No lady seems to think or care much, but they will. The time is not coming, it is here, and they must and will help rescue the things worth while in this life. Hickman has one grand old mother and grandmother. She may have 500 but I know she has one (by their works ye shall know them). For many, many long years she has stood like a stone wall and faced the enemy with banner high and visor down; she has lived to see and realize her noble efforts and high ideals have not been in vain, and now stands crowned with a God-given crown of gold. I believe it was Hugo who said that it was not Wellington that marshalled the forces and won the day at Waterloo, it was God. I believe it was not the men of this Waterloo or the States of the Nation that gave us prohibition and woman's suffrage, it was God. The men or cowards fought it to the last ditch and are still fighting it. I give here an extract clipped from a paper last week that is self-explanatory. You may have read it; if so read it again and think. We quote verbatim without comment:

"Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 30.—E. B. Craig, retiring collector of internal revenue for Tennessee, today told members of a local club at a luncheon that at least 65 per cent of the officers of the law in this state are co-operating with moonshiners and bootleggers. Mr. Craig asserted that there were 25 illicit whisky stills in the state today in comparison with one in December 1913, when he took office, and that 90 per cent of the people are opposed to the present enforcement of the prohibition law."

The men of this nation is divided in two classes: The brave and the cowards. I fear the cowards are in the majority. If so our officials, our law makers and county and state officers are cowards. Let's run them out and replace them with brave, true, noble women. I often wonder why it is that when we get good men in office they won't stay there. Look at John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, in the U. S. Senate; E. B. Craig, of Nashville, and down home to our own beloved Bunk Gardner, of our Judicial Circuit. All cry out in disgust or despair, "take this yoke off my neck." Williams says he had rather be a dog and bay at the moon. I will give you my idea. They are in the minority; the cowards are in the majority. The standards are too low, the pressure is too great.

I am intruding on space, but my heart tells me I must thank the two good old soldiers who at least responded (in a way) to our little article on election. They started the journey of life a few years before me, but we have traveled the same road. They have seen two great wars, I only remember seeing, but I remember I have seen one.

Sincerely,
B. G. Hale, Sr.

Clothing Prices Show Greatest Decline

THAT ought to be good news for you; you have to wear clothes; probably have to buy some.

The Department of Labor showed recently that the average cost of living had dropped 18%; the item of foodstuffs had dropped 33%; clothing 34%, the greatest decline of all the necessities.

The prices are stabilized; they're as low as they can be made. You can't get more for your money anywhere.

HICKMAN SCHOOLS OPENED MONDAY

Opening Enrollment of 841 Much Larger Than Any Previous.

The Hickman public schools opened Monday morning with exercises being conducted at the high school building, the graded school and the West Hickman school building. Talks were made at each of the openings by the pastors of the various churches of the town and by the trustees of the Hickman schools. Many of the parents of the children were present, some being present to enter children for the first time, and others merely being present to lend encouragement to the children and the faculty.

The total enrollment registered on the first day of school was 841, which is 91 more than were entered on the opening day of last year. Of this number 98 are members of high school classes, as compared with 73 on the opening day of last year. Prof. J. M. Calvin predicts that the attendance before the year is out will reach over the thousand mark, and in the high school will be well past 100.

One more building has been added to the schools of the city, this being the cottage in which the first grade of the West Hickman school is being taught, which is necessitated by the addition of the fifth grade to that school which previously has had only four grades.

The enrollment by grades given below give an idea of the crowded condition of the buildings in which the school children of Hickman are housed:

High School, 98.
8th Grade, Miss Andie Sherron, 40.
7th and 8th grades, Mrs. Mary Barbour, 7th, 29; 8th, 18.
7th Grade, Miss Vera Mayes, 35.
6th Grade, Mrs. Avee Jurney, 42.
6th Grade, Miss Andry Call, 40.
5th Grade, Miss Mattie Mal Seay, 45.
4th Grade, Miss Irene Seay, 54.
3rd Grade, Mrs. Dorsey Babbs, 60.
2nd Grade, Miss Mary Hardy Logan, 50.
1st Grade, Miss Lois Carpenter, 60.

West Hickman Tyler School.
5th Grade, E. B. Whalin, 30.
4th Grade, Mrs. Van Feltner, 31.
3rd Grade, Mrs. Lena Parham, 28.
2nd Grade, Miss Odessa Call, 27.
1st Grade, Miss Annie Carr-Ligon, 26.

Music pupils enrolled first day, West Hickman school, 5; Troy Avenue school, 14.

A feature which will be stressed this year by the authorities is athletics. Paul Boone, a graduate of Vanderbilt University, has been secured to take charge of this branch of school activities in addition to teaching science in the high school department. He will endeavor to arrange a program of physical development for the boys and girls and will probably organize teams which will compete with nearby towns in contests of athletic nature. This has been a feature which has remained unattended until now and is one which will mean a decided improvement for the school and will do much to advertise the school throughout this section when sufficient time has been devoted to its development to insure good teams being produced.

The outlook from every standpoint for this year is an exceedingly bright one, and despite the serious handicap of the lack of room the best year of the history of the Hickman schools is anticipated.

COMMUNITY FAIR

OCTOBER 6, 7, 8.

Three Days Designated This Year—$1500.00 in Premiums.

The Hickman Community Fair will hold a three day session this fall on October 6th, 7th, and 8th.

One day will be designated as Farm and Home Products and Live Stock Day; one as School Day, and one as Athletic Day. About fifteen hundred dollars will be available for premium money. The premium list is now being made up and will be given out in a few days.

One of the chief features will be Community displays of farm and home products open to school districts. Districts should organize at once and make their plans. Both registered and high grade animals will compete for live stock premiums. Interesting and amusing athletic contests will be held between school teams and also between individuals.

Let's all get busy seeking out the best specimens from our fields, orchards, gardens, flocks and herds and at the appointed time bring forth a display that will be a fitting tribute to the way nature has blessed our wonderful community.

We all live here because we believe this is the best place in this world in which we live, so now let's get on the job and demonstrate why we hold to such a belief.

Route High in Stone Age.
Southern California had apartment protractors back in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, according to a scientific correspondent whose investigation of the stone age dwellings, hewn out of solid rock has convinced him that keeping up an apartment never was a snap. At the entrance to one six-apartment cavern he found hieroglyphics, which he has deciphered to mean the rates for apartments as follows:

One abalone, one sun.
Two abalones, two suns.
Three abalones, three suns.
Twelve abalones, one moon.

Our correspondent figures that the home hunters among the Pimugna Indians had to pay at the rate of one abalone a sleep, or day, or 12 abalones per lunar month. The cave was the largest on the island and comprised the apartment house de luxe of that period. A short distance below the entrance to the stone apartment house the professor found a huge pile of empty abalone shells, proving that the landlord did a more or less rushing business.

Adaptable All-Day Dresses

NOW enters, with assurance, the trim and handsome all-day, one-piece frock for fall, made of the same cloth as suits, and equal to playing their part. In their company are other daytime dresses, more elaborate, destined to share responsibilities with the formal suit in the winter wardrobe—but they are another story. The all-day dress makes a strong appeal to busy American women, who have no inclination or time for changing often and primping, but are determined, nevertheless, to be well-dressed in their utility clothes.

Nearly all these one-piece dresses are cut in the straight-line style, but there are some very handsome models among them with a picturesque flare in their skirts. In this case we are more than likely to find them handsomely embroidered. The newly arrived frock shown in the picture, strikes a happy medium—with a very slight flare in the skirt portion. It announces its support of certain new features in fall styles by adapting them to its own use—namely the narrow strap belt, made of the material, the bell-shaped, three-quarter-length sleeve and panels ingeniously continued in the skirt by means of inverted plaits.

Rows of broad border the sleeves and bottom of the skirt, and this broad appears in waists on bodices and skirt. The collar is that most becoming type which is high at the back, with a V-shaped opening at the front and wide revers. A vesicle of plain satin is detachable and may be replaced by one of lace, or net when the wearer is inclined to furnish up this adaptable frock. That is one of its many good points. It is a dress that will stand the test of contingencies in all weathers, and it will prove becoming to most figures. It should be made in dark colors.

NATURE FOND OF FREAKS

Good Old Dame Seems to Take Pride in Perpetuating Physical Oddities in Mankind.

Occasionally it happens that a boy or girl is born with webbed feet—what is to say, with toes united by fleshy tissues. It is a phenomenon called "syndactyly."

This eccentricity is apt to be handed down from generation to generation in a family, appearing in some of its members, but not in others.

The Magazine of Heredity describes one such case, in a branch of an old New England family. The paternal grandfather was web-footed and bequeathed his peculiar toes to a son, who passed them along to three of his six children.

If these people were to intermarry for three or four generations with another web-footed family, all the children born would exhibit the peculiarity. For nature, curiously enough, seems always willing to perpetuate freaks of any kind.

What we call freaks, or "sports," in the animal or the vegetable world are nature's little experiments. It is by this means that she creates new species and varieties. Some anthropologists are of opinion that all human beings were originally black and that the first white man was a sport.

It might be said that many white people today respond to that description, though not in the same sense. Philadelphia Ledger.

WRITER MUST HAVE STYLE

Without It, Declares Arnold Bennett, He Will Be Unable to Get His Message Understood.

You cannot have good matter with bad style. Examine the point more closely. A man wishes to convey a fine idea to you. He employs a form of words. That form of words is his style. Having read, you say: "Yes, this idea is fine." The writer has therefore achieved his end. But in what imaginable circumstances can you say, "Yes, this idea is fine, but the style is not fine?" The sole medium of communication between you and the author has been the form of words. The fine idea has reached you. How? In the words, by the words. Hence the fineness must be in the words. You may say, superciliously: "He has expressed himself clumsily, but I can see what he means." By what light? By something in the words, in the style. That something is fine. Moreover, if the style is clumsy, are you sure that you can see what he means? You cannot be quite sure. And at any rate, you cannot see distinctly. The "matter" is what actually reaches you, and it must necessarily be affected by the style.—Arnold Bennett.

The Ant's "Parasol."

The so-called parasol ants of Brazil get their name from their habit of marching along in single file, each one with a piece of green leaf held over its head. These scraps of leaves are taken to underground chambers, well chewed, and allowed to ferment and decay in a mass, through which the mycelium of a fungus soon begins to run in white threads. When little mushroom buttons have started to develop the workers bite them off and feed them to the baby ants.

Nation Without Language.

One of the strangest things to be found among the nations of the world is the fact that Switzerland has no language of its own. The official languages of Switzerland are French, Italian and German, all three being recognized as the "mother tongue" of the majority of the inhabitants.

A majority of the people speak German, while the others use French and Italian, varying as a rule, according to the proximity of the people to each country whose tongue they speak.

Public documents and notices are printed in both the French and German languages.

In the Swiss national parliament the members make their speeches either in French or German, the members being as familiar with one language as the other.

Statements from the President of Switzerland are furnished to the newspapers in both languages.

Panama Springs Geographic Joke.

Panama perpetrates one of the greatest of geographic jokes on those who visit it. It convincingly makes east west. From Panama City the sun rises out of the Pacific, which to most American minds is the proper place only for setting suns. And he who sails through the canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific travels not from east to west, as he naturally expects to do, but from west to east, or, more accurately, from northwest to southeast. One gets the impression, as one writer has phrased it, that "there is something crooked about this." The crookedness is found to be in the isthmus, which runs predominantly east and west, instead of north and south, and in addition makes a double curve like the letter S, so that at one place the Atlantic waters are actually west of those of the Pacific.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Reason for Sunday.

How did Sunday become the first day of the week instead of the seventh? The Sabbath of the Jews was the seventh day of the week, the day of cessation from work among all Hebrews, following six days of labor and closing the week. Sunday was the first day of the week celebrated in memory of the resurrection of Christ. It is therefore also known as the Lord's day. In the Bible (in Acts XX, 7) we are told that the disciples in Troas met weekly on the first day of the week for exhortation and the breaking of bread. Justin Martyr said that Christians gathered then because it was the first day on which God made the world and because Jesus Christ on the same day arose from the dead.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nerves and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stogall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried everything I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many women's ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. B 55

MAN HE WAS LOOKING FOR

Old Goldstein Bigpurse Had Good Job
for Burglar Who Had Seen Boyhood Chum.

"Who's there?"
This snappy question shot forth from the lips of Goldstein Bigpurse, owner of one of the finest offices near the Mansion house.

"Only me," came the answer, and the burglar turned his lantern upon himself at once and on each side of him to show that he was telling the truth.

"You?" cried the multi-millionaire.
"You? Why, so it is! You—Bill
Bluffem, my school chum, my faithful companion in all schoolboy pranks. Great Scott! And fallen to such depths!"

"Well," exclaimed Burglar Bill,
"If it ain't Goldie, me old pal! I know all about you. You're president of one of the largest financial skind-ladies in this country, and I ain't nothin' but a common, ordinary burglar. Boohoo! If you let me go this mornin', I promise never to let you catch me again! Will yer?"

"Ha ha!" laughed the financier.
"Let you go? Well, I should say not.
No! Never! For I'm going to make you a partner in the skindlady. For years I have been looking for a man with the proper training."

So saying, the two pals embraced each other fondly.—(Houston Post).

SNAGS IN LIFE'S CURRENT

Are Something That It Is the Part of Wisdom for All of Us to Avoid.

A young woman in a rage with her husband for some apparently inexcusable oversight, exclaimed: "I never can forgive him—never." Her grandmother, sitting near, looked up from her knitting. "I felt the same way one day nearly 50 years ago," she said quietly.
"Today I cannot recall what it was I could not forgive, but the emptiness of life that resulted is still in my mind.
Don't get hung up on a snag in the stream, my dear. Snags alone are not so dangerous—it's the debris that clings to them that makes the trouble.
Pull yourself loose and go on."

In our judgment we must first get rid of the eternal self; we must learn to look at the fault wholly in its relation to the person to whom it belongs, not in its relation to ourselves. None of us is created perfect, and few of us attain perfection. The most we can attain is a perfect understanding of this fact, and a self control that will enable us to pull loose from the snag and go on with the main stream of the life which in other respects is in harmony with ours; not stay hung up, emphasizing the snag and giving it more weight than the stream itself. To be able to ignore is often the most saving of grace. Anne Shannon Monroe

REMINISCENCES

FIFTY YEARS AGO

"California has gone Republican by from 3,000 to 4,000 majority—the entire state ticket elected."

"The approaches to the bridge across the Mississippi river at St. Louis are being rapidly completed. Four of the approach piers on the east side of the river are finished, two are sunk, and will reach their foundation in about a week."

"The weather still continues dry, but pleasant. Stock water has become very scarce in many parts of the country."

"The river has been rising slowly for the past few days. Navigation, however, still continues tedious and difficult for large steamers."

"The grand jury found but few indictments at its sitting this court. This speaks well for the morals and good behavior of the people of Fulton."

Kerosene lamps were called "manufacturers of death," and nearly every paper contained accounts of fatalities and serious injuries to those who used them. Coal oil was then in its experimental stage.

Parents of Hickman were cautioned about letting their children play around the railroad track and depot grounds, where the trainmen found it almost impossible to keep them from hopping on and off the engines.

Here is a market quotation: Whisky, rye or bourbon, $1.75 to $2.25 per bbl; Robinson County, $1.55 to $2.25. Apple and peach brandy, $3.50 to $4 per bbl.

PARTISAN POLITICS NOT WANTED

Authorities On Both Sides Agree That School Offices Should Not Be Political Plums

TIGERT APPOINTED NEW COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION.

John J. Tigert, college professor of Lexington, Kentucky, who has been appointed Commissioner of Education to succeed Philander P. Claxton.

Two important amendments to the constitution of the state will be voted on at the November election. The general public is anxious to know more about these amendments and how they may help the definite development of a strong school system in Kentucky.

Your correspondent has been fortunate in securing a strong, short, and very much-to-the-point statement con-

CLAXTON ALSO APPROVES.

That men and women in both of the great political parties think alike concerning the management of the public schools of the state, should go without the saying. For fear the average voter might allow partisan politics to sway him or her at the November election, some quotations from a recent article by the Hon. P. P. Claxton, are given here. Mr. Claxton of Tennessee served as Commissioner of Education for the United States under President Woodrow Wilson.

The reader is asked to compare what the new Commissioner has said above and what the retiring Commissioner has to say below concerning the very grave danger of mixing politics with the school affairs of the state. The reader should bear in mind the fact that these men represent in a measure the two great parties.

Mr. Claxton wrote as follows: "Like Topsey, our state departments of education have just 'grewed up.' Few of them can look back to any definite birth as state departments of education. Very few, if any, except those that have been re-elected by recent acts of legislature or constitutional amendments, have been thoughtfully created and organized in full consciousness of the functions they should perform."

Office Is Not Political.

"In most of the states the mistake was made of supposing that the office of State Superintendent could be made a political office subject directly or indirectly to the vicissitudes of partisan government, as if, forsooth, the political parties as such ever advocated different educational policies, and as if the people would tolerate partisan influences in their schools. As a political office, elective or appointive, it did not formerly and in some states does not now, rank with other offices, either in pay or in imcerning the proposed amendments from the Hon. J. Tigert. What Mr. Tigert has to say on the important subject of schools, should carry a great weight as he has lately been appointed Commissioner of Education for the United States by President Harding. Mr. Tigert was one of the faculty of the University of Kentucky prior to his appointment as Commissioner.

John J. Tigert

Mr. Tigert's statement is given below:

"In reply to your questions suggesting an expression in regard to the proposed constitutional amendments, one to take the State Superintendent out of instruction out of politics, and the other to allow a reappointment of the State Superintendent, I do not know anything which would advance the cause of education in this Commonwealth more than the passage of these two amendments."

Keep Out of Politics.

"If the State Superintendent could be selected upon qualifications and aside from the issues of political campaigns, and then be allowed to continue in office after he has reached a high degree of efficiency, this one thing alone would improve the efficiency of our schools in an immeasurable way. I do not know of anything so important for the betterment of education in Kentucky."

Child Needs Square Deal.

"Hardly less desirable would be the amendment which would bring about a re-appointment of the funds so that educational opportunities might be equalized throughout the state. Giving a square deal to the children in the rural communities, to my mind, would be an inestimable benefit coming from such a re-appointment. It would give me great satisfaction if both of these amendments could be passed. In the name of the children of our great state, let us put them through."

out in the State Line vicinity are also said to be very poor, having been ruined by the drought. Lower bottom planters report cotton the "best yet."

"An exchange says the autumn girl will be minus corset, puffs, and will wear her hair parted."

A TONIC

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic is simply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Chills germs by its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. 60c.

Immunity From Second Attack. The United States public health service says that it is well known that an attack of measles or scarlet fever or smallpox usually protects a person against another attack of the same disease. To some extent this appears to be true also of influenza. Just how long such protection lasts is not known.

portance within itself, or as a stepping stone to political preferment considered of a higher grade or more desirable.

All Equally Interested.

"From the standpoint of statesmanship and the public welfare, all people are interested alike in the schools. Our political parties do not differ in regard to educational principles or practices any more than they do in the Ten Commandments or the moral code; and to attempt to make education a matter of partisan politics is good neither for education nor for politics. Education is the largest and most important part of what has been called our 'progressive government,' through which all the people are served and waited, rather than controlled under policies on which people are divided into parties."

PATIENT DECLINES TO ACCEPT DOCTOR'S DECISION

A dispatch from Boston, Ky. says: "The doctors may think that I am going to die, but I am going to fight them by getting well," said John Allen, who lies mortally wounded at his home near Seale with his spinal cord shattered by a bullet fired by Fred English about two weeks ago.

Allen, who is a man of unusual vigor for his age of 54 years, meant exactly what he said. Since his return to his home where he was sent to die by his physicians, Allen has been optimistic and boasts freely that he will recover. Now some of his relatives have faith in his hope and have faith in Allen's prediction. Allen's physicians shake their heads and say that he cannot live. They predict that because of his remarkable vitality he may linger for days until exhaustion claims him as a victim.

TO AID THE CORN CROP.

The corn crop in the bottom below Hickman and more especially near the lake is being damaged by black birds. This occurs every year. Those who have tried the experiment say these birds can be driven away by the use of corn soaked in a solution of strychnine. Small grains of corn should be selected and allowed to soak in a strong solution of strychnine until thoroughly saturated. A trough or platform erected above the top of the corn in the field, preferably near a snag or dead tree will attract the attention of the birds which will readily eat the corn. If all farmers will adopt this simple and comparatively inexpensive remedy the corn can be saved from the damage which these birds do each year. It is useless to try to frighten them away by shooting them with a shotgun.

THE COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

Culling Demonstration.

Last week eight poultry culling demonstrations were conducted in as many different sections of Fulton County. A total of more than eighty people attended these meetings and learned to identify the low producing hens of their flocks. Eight hundred instead of eighty people should have availed themselves of this opportunity.

We had with us Prof. J. Holmes Martin, who altho a comparatively young man, not only stands at the head of poultry instruction and research at the College of Agriculture in Kentucky, but has also gained a national reputation as a poultry expert and is constantly called upon to make contributions to leading farm papers.

The principle of this important work, is that during August and September, better than at any other time of the year, the slacker hens that do not produce enough eggs to pay for the feed they consume, can easily be culled out and sold. Within a few years most any ordinary farm flock can in this way be built up to high egg production.

If you care to have your flock culled the County Agent or his assistant will arrange a date with you, provided you can get as many as ten of your neighbors to witness the demonstration.

The VanBrunt Drill

Harvest Proves the Value of the Van Brunt Drill

Regardless of soil and weather conditions, the seed must be planted right to get the biggest harvest. You can feel absolutely sure that it is planted right if you use one of the Van Brunt Drills we have in stock. This drill has a patented, adjustable gate force feed that successfully handles any size seed from alfalfa to bearded oats without choking.

The force feed compels the seed to leave the grain box in even, continuous streams, and the seed is protected until it reaches the bottom of the furrow.

That is why a field planted with a Van Brunt Drill makes such a pleasing appearance to the eye—and why it adds extra money to your bank account. All of the grain is ready for harvest at one time. There are no bare spots in the field, and you can feel absolutely sure that no seed is wasted in planting. Come in and let us show you how easy it is to regulate the flow of seed—simply moving a lever regulates the quantity sown and an equal amount is placed in each furrow.

BOY CAVE EXPLORERS

FIND MAN DEAD 2 YEARS

Boys exploring a cave last week near Falls Cross Roads, eleven miles north-east of Knoxville, Tenn., made a gruesome find in a large interior chamber, reached only after a sheer drop of eight feet.

Lying stretched out its full length of more than six feet was the skeleton of a man, probably an elderly one.

One glance served to drive the boys to their homes. They spread the news over the neighborhood. Sheriff Cate and deputies went to the scene.

A cake of soap, a comb, a shaving brush, a spoon of thread, an overcoat and a pair of shoes in good condition were found, but no papers or articles that might lead to identification. Undertakers who brought the skeleton to town said the man had probably been dead two years. No marks of violence were visible.

Sheriff Cate ascertained that no one is missing from that section.

MY CITY AND I

My city is the place where my home is founded, where my business is situated, where my vote is cast, where my children are educated, where my neighbors dwell and where my life is chiefly lived.

It is the home spot for me. My city has a right to my civic loyalty. It supports me and I must support it.

My city wants my citizenship, not partisanship; friendliness, not selfishness; co-operation, not dissension; sympathy, not criticism; my intelligent support, not indifference.

My city supplies me with law and order, trade, friends, education, morals, recreation, and the rights of a free born, and I should believe in my city and work for it, and I will.—Edinburg Rotary Bulletin.

QUARTER ACRE TOMATOES NETS MISSOURIAN $950

Jewell Mayes, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, has received a report from Saline county relative to a report from Saline county relative to which he deemed worthy of the attention of gardeners. Virgil Lawless, near Marshall, grew and marketed 9000 pounds of tomatoes from one-fourth acre of land. The tomatoes were diseased at wholesale for $950 and would have brought double this sum had they been sold at retail. The variety is known as "red head" and the vines were trained on trellises.—East Prairie Eagle.

YOUNG GIRL TAKES POISON; WILL RECOVER

The timely arrival of physicians yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock no doubt saved the life of Miss Myrtle Cherry, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Cherry, on South Tenth street, who had swallowed enough arsenic tablets to kill a half dozen persons.

The girl it is said, after some disagreement with her brother or mother, seized a small bottle containing thirty of the tablets, and according to Dr. Hunt who with Dr. J. H. Shelton, was called, she swallowed all of them.

An emetic was at once applied and the poison was thrown from her system before it got in its deadly work.

The young lady is slowly recovering. Friday Mayfield Messenger.

Committees were appointed to assist in preparing for the fair and these were composed of the following:

Committee on Arrangements—H. C. Hildm, R. G. Hale, Jr., J. O. West, Committee on Publicity—H. M. Brain, Jr., and J. C. Sexton.

Superintendent of different departments of exhibits are:

Swine Department—T. T. Swayne, Cattle Department—Ernest Johnson, Poultry Department—W. B. Amburge, Women's Department—Mrs. H. L. Amburge.

The committee on Finance, composed of E. R. Travis, H. L. Amburge, W. H. Hiltner and F. T. Swayne, reported that on their last attempt to solicit funds a small part of the amount needed had been secured and they are going to make another round of the business men in an effort to raise the balance needed the first of next week.

Premium lists have been ordered printed and these lists will appear in next week's Courier.

FEEDS FOR GROWING CHICKS

In Addition to Grains Growth of Young Fowl Can Be Hastened by Supplying Milk.

As soon as chickens will eat whole wheat, cracked corn, and other grains, the small-sized chick feed can be eliminated. In addition to the above feeds the chickens' growth can be hastened if they are given sour milk, skim milk, or buttermilk to drink.

Growing chickens kept on a good range may be given all their feed in a hopper, mixing two parts by weight of cracked corn with one part of wheat, or equal parts of cracked corn, wheat and oats in one hopper, and the dry mash in another. The feed scrap may be left out of the dry mash and fed in a separate hopper, so that the chickens can eat all of this feed they desire. If the beef scrap is to be fed separately it is advisable to wait until the chicks are 10 days old, the poultry division of the United States Department of Agriculture advises, although many poultrymen put the beef scrap before the young chickens at the start without bad results.

Chickens confined to small yards should always be supplied with green feed. Fine charcoal, grit and oyster shell should be kept before the chickens at all times, and cracked or ground bone may be fed where the chickens are kept in small, bare yards, but the latter feed is not necessary for chickens that have a good range.

The following table, compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture, shows that the losses of fertile eggs are computed to be nearly twice as great as of infertile eggs:

	Fertile Eggs	Infertile Eggs
On the farm.....	23.9	15.5
At country store.....	5.1	4.0
Transportation to packing house.....	0.4	4.7
Total.....	29.4	24.2

LOCATION FOR BROOD COOPS

Should Be Placed on Spot Where Grass Is Green and Tender and Removed Frequently.

Brood coops with runs should be placed on ground where the grass is green and tender, and, as fast as it is eaten off, the coop and run should be moved to a place where the grass is plentiful, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

GYPSY TEA.

The Christian Endeavor of the Mt. Vernon Church entertained Tuesday night with a gypsy tea on the lawn at Henry Maddox's home. After the lunch the crowd went to the church where a well rendered program was enjoyed. Several of the young folks of that neighborhood leave for school in a few days and this gave them a chance to be with their friends before leaving.

Corean and Chinese Languages.

The Corean language belongs to the same class of language as the Mongolian, Japanese and Chinese. It has borrowed many words from the Chinese, since Chinese was the diplomatic language of the country for many centuries. In sounds it differs widely from modern Chinese, and in grammar is nearly identical with Japanese.

FORMER HICKMAN MAN DEAD.

Cottingham, Tenn., Sept. 6.—James M. Polk, a well known and popular citizen of Cottingham, died at the residence here this morning. Mr. Polk, who was native of Hickman, Ky., had lived in Tipton County the past 20 years. He was 40 years old today. He served as cashier of the Cottingham Savings Bank until it was merged in the Union Savings Bank and served as assistant cashier of that bank for several years. He afterwards was engaged in the automobile business and was secretary of the Tipton County Berry Growers' Association. He was a deacon in the First Baptist Church and was highly respected. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Phoebe Polk, and three daughters, Misses Hilda, Edna and Martha Polk. The funeral took place at the family residence at 9:30 o'clock, Wednesday morning, Rev. Chas. L. Bowden conducting the services.

The deceased is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Harry McMillan and Mrs. R. E. Dougherty, both of the town, who attended the funeral.

Red Men Not Really Red.

The American Indian is not a red man. His actual color is yellow and he is akin to the Japanese, Chinese and Koreans.

So says Dr. Clark Wissler of the American Museum of Natural History in the March number of the Mentor Magazine.

Scientists now believe that the Indian migrated to America from Asia via the Bering straits and Alaska, Dr. Wissler says.

Thank Indians for National Bird.

The Pilgrim Fathers did not "invent" turkey. Indians in the southern states domesticated the national bird and made him a regular item on their bill of fare long before the coming of the white man.

George Bird Grinnell, the man that knows the most about the Indian, says this in "The Peoples of America" in the Mentor Magazine.

ENDS SHOULD BE VARNISHED

Agricultural Department Tells How to Prevent Door From Sticking on Damp Days.

A door which sticks to the frame every damp day is not conducive to untroubled feelings on the part of those who use it. The cause is usually the vertical stiles give the most bother, because wood picks up or gives off moisture more rapidly through surfaces cut across the grain than through those cut parallel to the grain.

If the doors in a house are to shut easily and fit tightly, it is important that their top and bottom edges be protected by paint or varnish. If it is necessary to roll the door after it is hung, the freshly exposed surface should be retouched at once.

Monroe Was Jefferson's Secretary.

Although James Monroe, who was to become one of our most famous Presidents, played his part in the Revolutionary war with gallantry, and was wounded at the battle of Trenton, it was after that wound had forced his retirement to private life that he got his real start on the path that was to carry him to fame. Upon recovering his wound the young man, who had previously been promoted to a captaincy by Gen. Washington, returned to his home in Virginia and took up the study of law. He entered the office of Thomas Jefferson, who was then governor of Virginia. Jefferson had a large library, and inspired Monroe with a desire for study. The two formed a great attachment, and Jefferson made the young man his secretary.

"Fossil Raindrops."

In slabs of Triassic rock little depressions are often seen that have been called "fossil raindrops," the idea being that they were formed by showers on muddy sea beaches, and preserved by being covered with a layer of mud at the next high tide.

But lately it has been suggested, in view of observations on a flood plain in the Dora valley, that the supposed impressions of rain drops may really be due to pittings formed by bubbles in a film of mud at the bottom of shallow water. There have been watched the formation of many pittings, and it has been found that after the mud has dried they exactly resemble "fossil raindrops."

Has Had Ten Capitals.

North Carolina has had at least ten capitals, including Bath, Edenton, Brunswick, Wilmington, Newberry, Hillsboro, Smithfield, Fayette and Raleigh. The reason for so many lay in the custom prior to 1791 of transferring the seat of government to the place of residence of the governor or the temporary meeting place of the assembly.

In 1791 one square mile of land was purchased for the foundation of Raleigh as the permanent seat of government. At present the city covers four square miles.

STATE SCHOOLS STATUS GIVEN.

"The children of Kentucky are worth $8,150,000,000."

Kentucky's schools are rated forty-fifth among the States of the Union. Only three states have a worse record.

"The school attendance in Kentucky is the poorest in the United States."

"The waste of Kentucky's children is greater than that of any other state."

These are a few of the facts set forth by Nathan P. Bloom, temporary president of the Americanism Council of Kentucky.

ARE READY FOR ANY EMERGENCY

65 Feet Drilled at Bondurant Well With New Rig.

Reports from the well at Bondurant show the new standard drilling outfit to be making fairly good progress in the rock. About twelve feet were drilled yesterday and about 65 feet since installing this rig. The formation of the last 50 feet is black lime, which we are told by those informed, is similar to the formation in which the large producers are found in many places in Texas. Several chemical tests have been made during the past few days and all show oil. The drillers expect to penetrate this rock any hour. The operators and many other interested parties are constantly watching the progress being made, and are ready for almost any emergency. The well is about 2715 feet deep.

Considerable trading in land, horses and stock is taking place and several oil men from Louisiana and other fields are here with a view of beginning operations.

Practical Bible Warning.

"There are extraordinary sarcasms in coincidences," says Alexander Black, author of "The Seventh Angel" and "The Great Desire." "One night a thief made off with my overcoat from a restaurant. It was not the sort of restaurant in which one is accustomed to be robbed. I had never been robbed of anything in my life. I had had no noteworthy experience. Naturally the incident made a rather profound impression. The weather deepened that impression.

"That same night I happened to open my Bible to verify the location of the verse from which I took the title of 'The Seventh Angel.' And in the verse immediately preceding I read these startling words: 'Blessed is he that watcheth and keepeth his garments.'"

He returned to Hickman last night and is engaged in looking for a home for himself and family. He intends to move his family here as soon as a place may be found. He is experienced in the industry which he will manage at Bondurant and it is fortunate that such a live head could be found for the factory at its beginning.

CAIRO TERMINAL NOW COMPLETED

Federal Barge Line Terminal Will Draw More Business.

The Cairo terminal of the Mississippi Warrior Service (Federal Barge Line) is complete and waiting for the beginning of operations on Sept. 15. It will be used for interchange of freight through agreement with the Illinois Central Railroad.

When two warehouse barges arrive from New Orleans the terminal will be ready for business. Two truck barges have already arrived from that port. The barges which were originally intended for use in New York harbor are of concrete. They are two hundred and sixty-six feet long and thirty-six feet wide, while guards on the sides give the warehouse barges a width of thirty-six feet.

The terminal will be floating in every detail. The four barges will be lashed together as a unit and moored to a "cradle" which will be pulled up and down and incline as the river rises and falls. This type of dock is said to be the most practical ever devised for river use. The truck barges will be a miniature railroad yard as they are large enough to permit switching.

The Cairo terminal will be the upper river transfer point of the barge line during the winter months, as the channel between there and St. Louis is too uncertain during the cold period. In summer it is also expected to be of great value, as it has been found impractical to send the new tunnel-type towboats beyond this point.

Establishment of this terminal is expected to draw more business for the line from the Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky fields. A packet has already entered the Louisville-Cairo trade with announced intention of connections with the barge line, heretofore impossible because of inadequacy of local facilities to handle quantities.

Grain shipments will still be handled through the Holiday Elevator, which is on the river front.

Statement of officials of the line indicate that its business is now the best in its brief history. The towboat Cairo is now on route to New Orleans with the largest tow ever handled by the line, something over 11,000 tons.

The large line has in service four towboats of the new tunnel type (screw propellers)—the Cairo, St. Louis, Vicksburg and Natchez, with two more coming out, together with a number of stern wheel type, the largest of which is the New Orleans, formerly the Barrett. Forty steel barges are in use. Several self-propelled barges are in operation on the Warrior River.

Because of the mobility of the larger tow boats of the line to go beyond Cairo, Capt. Elmer Patton, superintendent of terminals, is arranging with the Cairo officials to dock the floating machine shop now at St. Louis at the municipal wharf.

Under the Circumstances Most Young Mothers Will Say That George Was Dilatory.

"George! Oh, George! Come! Come!" What was that? George brightly sprang from his bed at the sound of his wife's voice raised in an earnest entreaty. "George! Oh, George!" She was in peril. She, whom he loved better than life itself; his young wife, his first and only love! "George! Oh, Oh! Quickly!" He scrambled into his clothes. Not a second must be lost. He must save her.

"George! George! George!" At last he is on his way down, three steps at a time, to arrive, breathless, in the dining room. "Oh! Oh! George, you are too late! Too late!" "Too late!" gasped George. "Yes, the baby had his toe in his month, and he looked so funny! I did want you to see him! Why didn't you come when I called?"

Theocratic Government.

Theocracy was the name given to a system of government by ecclesiastical authorities, professing in the name of and under the direction of heaven itself. The priests claimed to rule under the immediate sovereignty of God, and the revelations announced as coming from the deity were given out as the civil law of the state. The people of ancient Israel were under such a government from the time of the Exodus until the accession of King Saul.

Movements of Sun, Moon and Earth Accurately Represented by New Astronomical Clock.

What is said to be an improved astronomical clock represents the ideas and unrelenting work of an ingenious Chicagoan, Michael Bulka. This clock exemplifies and illustrates the movements of the earth and moon around the sun, with the moon swinging about the earth. These various movements, in concert with the actual happenings, typify the four seasons of the year.

In a glass dome surrounding the clock are three globes representing the sun, earth and moon. This group shows how the sun illuminates the earth and moon; how the earth revolves around its axis every 24 hours, giving us both day and night; how the earth travels around the sun, giving us the four seasons of the year; how the moon revolves around the earth, thus changing its illuminated area; and how the earth and moon together revolve around the sun, giving us the 12 months in the year. The eclipses of the sun and moon, when they occur, are plainly depicted by the mechanism.

The globes representing the sun and moon have been coated with phosphorus preparation which radiates rays of light. The clock has two dials indicating time of the year and of the day.—Scientific American.

Thoroughbreds and Jackasses. The Baldwin locomotive works got an order for a monster locomotive. It was shipped in fifteen days.

"How did you do it?" one of the officials was asked.

"Organization," he responded. "Organization is the art of getting men to respond like thoroughbreds. When you eluck to a thoroughbred he gives you all the speed and strength of heart and sinew he has in him. When you eluck to a jackass he kicks."

Here is an illustration worth while, which surely applies to men as well as lower animals.

A wonderful thing is the ability to respond with complete efficiency whenever called upon.

And a more wonderful thing is to be able to get other men to respond that way when you call upon them. That is what the great men of industry—as well as of war—have been able to accomplish.—Gulf Coast Rambler.

Smart Fall Fashions

Which will impress modish women and misses with their brilliance of ornamentation, cleverness of their lines—and, above all, their moderate pricing.

Women's and misses' Autumn gowns are as smart as their sleeves, says Fashion. Whether it flows in classic simplicity tucks itself into soft folds or slashes wide open with gay impertinence, the sleeve is the thing.

In our collection are individual frocks and dresses for every-day age and type, from slender twenty to dignified maturity, each a vision of correctness.

True, women will wear high heels in defiance of what all the doctors in the world might tell them. But men have no right to poke fun at them for it. For men do and will insist on wearing belts despite what an eminent physician has said or what any other eminent physicians might corroborate, that from a health standpoint suspenders are much the healthier.

If you can remember when the bicycle craze was at its height you are just about 44 years old. We'll venture you can't find any ladies under 60 to admit they remember it, though.

There's one nice thing about belonging to the army of the unemployed. One gets so much time to rest.

Still the prophets continue to forecast a hard, cold winter. There's one thing sure—after this seemingly interminable hot summer, anything under 80 degrees would seem actually cold.

Paul, the Office Boy, says soldiers must be mighty easy to rob, having in mind the reading of so many instances in which "sentries" were relieved of their watch.

President Harding, in a recent talk, unloaded this sentence: "World peace may never come." Probably on the theory that what never has been never will be.

We wonder if the Irish question worries Lloyd George as much as the mosquitoes worry us.

It would seem as if everything once thought impossible has come to pass. People used to read Jules Verne's "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" with a sort of tolerant amusement. It made good reading, but how impractical the idea was! Yet the submarine is here. And the ships of the air, now. For ages they were something to speculate on, to imagine, but so out of the realm of reason, you know. But these two things, with a whole host of others, at one time supposed impractical and mere imagination ticklers, have come to pass and are facts. Often and in many voices have we heard the opinion expressed that nothing is impossible, in view of the impossibilities that have become possible. But they spoke without any deep thought on the subject. They might have thought painstakingly on the subject—or thought they thought that way. But all this time they were blind to one glaring, hugely evident impossibility, viz: That no way has been or ever will be found to grow a mat of hair on a hairless head. That is a stone wall science has encountered which never can be surmounted.

If the weather man could make good on his predictions for cool weather like he does on "fair and warmer" he'd stand in a whole lot better with us.

SKIRTS ARE UNCHANGED

In the matter of styles for separate skirts designers appear inclined to let well enough alone. The new utility skirts for winter are still made of draped or pleated materials, and are usually pleated either in box or side pleats. Their resemblance to summer skirts ends when fabrics are considered. These are heavier and in warm, rich colors.

Council Mooney has a Shepherd dog worth while—one that knows how to take care of money. Some little time ago the dog was seen one morning playing with and tearing up some object in the yard. Upon investigation it was found to be a lady's purse that the dog had picked off the street and brought in, containing $7 in currency and some change, also a powder puff. The dog had, in some way, managed to get the money out of the purse unscathed and unharmed, and this was lying to one side, while the dog was tearing the purse to shreds.

The dove shooting season opened last Thursday, the first day of the season finding many of Hickman's Nimrods in the fields and woods. This sport is enjoyed by many in this section.

STEAMER CAPTOL HERE ON SEPTEMBER 12

The Streckfus Line's colossal steamer Capitol is now enroute to New Orleans for the winter season and will stop at Hickman on Monday, September 12, for a moonlight dancing trip under the auspices of Hickman Lodge No. 1294 B. P. O. E., leaving at 6 p. m. and returning at 11:30 p. m.

Since appearing at Hickman last spring the Capitol has been operating on the upper Mississippi as far north as St. Paul and Stillwater, Minn., and proved to be even more popular than the season before.

For the winter season at New Orleans the music will be furnished by Berk-Lein's Ten Famous Toodle Kings, who have charmed the dancers of the upper Mississippi during the summer season. This famous aggregation of syncopators will be aboard when the Capitol plays Hickman, and the chairman of the entertainment committee has a special program for that night.
